DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 2. Claims 1-21,23-28 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pletscher in view of Steube 4,116,161.

Pletscher discloses the claimed dry surface treating apparatus having a tubular barrel having protrusions or being in the shape of a regular triangle for treating workpieces.

Claims 23-26 do not further limit the apparatus of claim 1. Pletscher does not show a porous rface or a plurality of barrels about a rotational axis. However, Steube teaches a tumbling ratus having a mesh porous peripheral surface and having a plurality of barrels spaced about a al axis. Therefore, to provide the barrel of Pletscher with a mesh porous surface, as Steube, would have been obvious at time invention was made to one of ordinary skill in er to filter out abraded debris from workpiece. In addition, to have a plurality of as taught by Steube, would have been obvious at time invention was made to all in the art in order to more efficiently abrade a larger number of workpieces.

Art Unit: 3723

In regard to claims 5 & 6, Pletscher does not show the tubular barrel being in the shape of a square or rhombus. However, to change the shape of the barrel would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at time invention was made in order to accommodate differently shaped workpieces and to produce various machining effects.

In regard to claims 13-17, to have more than one compartment in the barrel would have been obvious at time invention was made to one of ordinary skill in the art in order to individually treat a variety of workpieces simultaneously.

3. Claim 22 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pletscher in view of Steube, as applied to claims above, and in further view of Kanouse - 5,782,677.

Pletscher does not disclose the barrel used as a blasting chamber. However, Kanouse teaches an apparatus having a tubular barrel for blast treating workpieces. Therefore, it would have been obvious at time invention was made to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the apparatus of Pletscher with a blasting nozzle, as taught by Kanouse, in order to more thoroughly abrade workpieces.
